Message

I welcome the 2nd convocation of International Islamic University Chittagong.

Bangladesh badly needs skilled manpower having moral awareness and patriotic zeal. The International Islamic University Chittagong has the opportunity of mobilizing and motivating students and preparing them to shoulder the burden of social and national responsibilities. I congratulate the graduating students and wish them a bright future.

I wish the Convocation a total success.

Allah Hafez, Bangladesh Zindabad.

Message

I am pleased to know that the 2nd Convocation of International Islamic University Chittagong is going to take place on December 17, 2003. I take this opportunity to congratulate the graduates, their families & friends on this auspicious occasion.

I hope the graduates have been infused with the skills and knowledge not only in their area of study but also with the qualities that make an ideal citizen.

Message

I am glad to hear that the 2nd convocation of International Islamic University Chittagong is going to be held on December 17, 2003. I want to thank the authority, and the faculty members, for the successful completion of the academic programs.

Our expectation from Private Universities is to minimize the mounting pressure on the public Universities in respect of student enrollment for enhancing the quality higher education. Although the expectation has not been completely fulfilled, some of the private universities have become successful in rendering quality education to the learners. I am happy to learn that the academic environment of International Islamic University Chittagong is good. I thank the authority for arranging such environment in the International Islamic University Chittagong.

On this auspicious and colorful occasion I like to congratulate the graduates on completion of their academic programs that they enrolled for four years back.

I am convinced as well as hopeful that they will be successful in proving themselves invaluable and worthy of the task to be entrusted to them. I am optimistic that they will play a vital role in building in nation. I wish the program a grand success.

Message

All praises are due to the Lord of the Universe and peace be upon our leader Muhammad SWA and all of his family members and companions.

It gives me immense pleasure to be informed that International Islamic University Chittagong is going to publish a souvenir on the occasion of its Second Convocation on December 17, 2003.

I believe that this souvenir will play an important role in upholding the image of this University in the global context and in gaining confidence of the Muslim Ummah because this souvenir will be considered a historic record of the list of graduates from various disciplines and the educational and missionary activities of this University as well.

I do hope that the graduates of this University will be model of morality and character for those of other universities in the country and the society as well. I do believe those who are achieving certificates today will be able to bring significant change in the society. I am also optimistic that they will not only engage themselves in this territory but they will also render their service to alleviate the sufferings of the Muslim Ummah and will be a model in this global village. I pray to the Almighty Allah for every success in their respective job fields.

I wish this University continuous progress and success.

Message

It is a matter of great satisfaction that the Second Convocation of International Islamic University Chittagong is being held today at the Bangladesh-China Friendship Centre. Today the Hon'ble Chancellor Prof. Dr. Iajuddin Ahmed, Hon'ble President of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, will confer both Bachelor and Master degrees on 471 students of our University. It will be recorded as a red-letter day in the annals of IIUC.

Founded in 1995 with only 47 students at its main campus in three departments, IIUC has registered a covetable growth rate, with its present roll strength exceeding 3500 students pursuing as many as 7 disciplines under 5 faculties. This is an admirable record and this has been possible through concerted efforts of all involved in the working of the University.

International Islamic University Chittagong is an example of what might be achieved by a well-motivated group of people resolute in their efforts. The University has been up against daunting challenges; it has overcome initial difficulties with remarkable resilience. Since its inception IIUC has been functioning with an avowed objective of producing skilled manpower with a modern knowledge in consonance with Islamic epistemology and ethical values. The objective is to raise graduates who will be compassionate, caring human beings capable of taking up positions of trust and responsibility in any echelon of life.

On this auspicious occasion I warmly felicitate the graduating students on their successful completion of the programs of studies at IIUC. I wish them all success in their future endeavours. Further I record my deepest appreciation to the founding Trust Members, Faculty Members, Guardians, University Administration whose untiring efforts have made it possible to hold the Second Convocation.

May Allah help IIUC so that it grows from strength to strength in the years to come.

Convocation Speech

Justice Mustafa Kamal
Former Chief Justice of Bangladesh

Bismillahir Rahmanir Rahim

Your Excellency the Chancellor, Professor Dr. Iajuddin Ahmed, President of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, Professor Dr. A.K.M. Azharul Islam, Vice-Chancellor of the International Islamic University Chittagong, distinguished Faculty Members, distinguished members of the Trust from home and abroad, Graduates of the University, Guardians of the students, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Assalamo Alaikum

I am indebted and thankful to the Syndicate of the International Islamic University Chittagong for having conferred on me the rare distinction of being the Convocation Speaker at the 2nd Convocation of the University. I know I hardly deserve this privilege. Academic luminaries all around are far better qualified to fulfill this pontifical task. Small as I am I feel even smaller when the Syndicate showers this affection and goodwill on me.

The tasks and responsibilities that confront our educational institutions, both private and public, are indeed daunting in nature. Like population explosion, there has been an education explosion in the country for many years last past. The frontiers of our kindergarten, primary, secondary, college and university education have expanded in recent years beyond recognition. Unfortunately, the quantity and quality of this expansion has not followed a chartered course. There has been, to my knowledge, no official or non-official survey of our educational potentialities, requirements, dropouts and follow-up of fates of the ultimate recipients of education at various levels. Also there has been no survey of the required level, quality and quantity of education-receiving products for purposes of absorption in the private, public and self employment sectors, both at home and abroad. The educational scenario in Bangladesh, as a result, presents a mosaic of disjoined activities, dispersed ideas, several competing systems vying with each other for the students' attention, different media of instruction, different examination and marking systems, different types of end-products of education and different prospects for life for each equivalent level of education.

While a monolithic system of education gives rise to an environment congenial to a totalitarian state system, an unplanned and laissez faire growth of education is also an invitation to anarchy. It may be worthwhile to give a serious thought to a total survey of our state of education in the kindergarten, primary, secondary, college and university levels, both private and public, and suggest a rationalisation out of a chaos.

It has been felt by many scholars at home and abroad that a completely non-religious education from childhood upto manhood ultimately presents the society with human beings possessing no strong ethical and moral values. While a great many of them may rise to great heights, the bulk of these educated manpower, ultimately apathetic to religious values, if not openly hostile to them, are the harbingers of corruption and low moral and ethical standard. They end up as progenitors of a degraded progeny. Giving these apathetic or hostile opponents' insults and vituperations a damn, brave men and women of Islamic learning have on their own initiative set up, not old-style maktabas and madrasahs, but modern private educational institutions in Bangladesh offering the latest curriculum and syllabus that a modern institution can offer. There can be only one reason to do so - to demonstrate on the field that men and women with Islamic learning turn out to be far superior in intellect, wisdom, innovation, morals and behaviour than those immersed lifetime in an exclusively non-religious education. I would request the International Islamic University Chittagong and similar educational institutions in Bangladesh to place on record, before the people at large, their accomplishments in this regard, to justify their creation and ongoing existence. An example is better than precept.

The challenges are immense.

First, the scientific and technological advance in the West has dwarfed the efforts of long subjugated countries to acquire a fair level playing field with the West. Ten centuries of stagnation, foreign subjugation, neglect and apathy have put these countries into an almost no-win situation. Yet countries like Singapore, Malaysia and South Korea have shown that several centuries of deprivation can be compressed into several decades of giant strides. Given political will and determination, a reasonable, if not fair, level playing field is achievable within a defined period.

Secondly, the anti-Islamic rhetoric and hysteria in the West is not at all an encouraging factor to foster Islamic education even in a predominantly Muslim country. An academic activity is also a suspect in the Western eyes nowadays. Yet the graduates of an Islamic university cannot remain confined to the ghetto of Muslim countries only. While our gates are open to all and sundry from the West, we find the doors of the West gradually shut to anyone having anything to do with Islam. Such polarization of religious habitat the world has never seen since the Crusades. The Islamic World was the least prepared for it and they are shutting their eyes to reality stomachaching all the insults being heaped on Islam itself.

Thirdly, many Muslim countries are overtly or covertly ashamed in admitting that they have an Islamic identity. They present their Muslim faces as an accident of birth and behave as if they are more neutral towards religion than the West. That does not impress or influence the hard core anti-Islamic decision makers of the West. They recognize Muslims and Islam everywhere whatever overt or covert garb or mask they may put on. There is a frankness when the European Union proposes in its draft constitution that Christianity is the basic faith that unites Europe. There is an equal frankness when the Education Act of England openly proclaims that fostering and nurturing of Christian faith is the goal of education in England. The trouble of the non-Muslim world is only with Islam. Fostering and promoting Islamic education is very much a suspicious activity in the eyes of the West. Their foster-brothers, Muslims by name, in the homeland of Muslim countries, are even more hostile to it. All those who carry Islamic values uppermost in their heart of hearts have to tread on a minefield of internal and external hostilities, carefully, with sagacity, wisdom and farsight.

Fourthly, scarce as our resources are, we cannot afford to be poor and inefficient planners. We must avoid the pitfall of rushing to a crowd to meet the inevitable crash. When we start building one or two jute mills, anyone with any resource starts building jute mills. When building a cold storage looks profitable, everyone rushes to build a cold storage. When instant colour photography is the trend, all cities and towns, even villages, are inundated with colour labs. Same is true of fax and phone corner shops, disease diagnostic centers, private clinics, hospitals, shopping malls, housing societies and so on. Private universities are now publishing attractive booklets courting prospective students with courses on computer, B.B.A and M.B.A courses and so on. Please pause and think. One reason for the growth of more than 50 private universities in Bangladesh is that the traditional humanities, science, health and engineering education provided by the public universities were and are still failing to provide employment in the graduates' respective fields of specialization. The country is witnessing the onrush of qualified doctors and engineers in Bangladesh Civil Service examinations. The private universities realized the gap between demand and supply and quickly provided a new type of expensive education that fed the employment market. I have a feeling that the private universities combinedly are now oversaturating the job market with an abundant supply of young people with the same qualifications and the day may not be far off when their graduates will be at par with the graduates of public universities in respect of employment opportunities and further foreign education. It is better to take a stock of the situation and redesign the educational pattern before the private universities meet with a stock exchange-like crash.

Ladies and Gentlemen

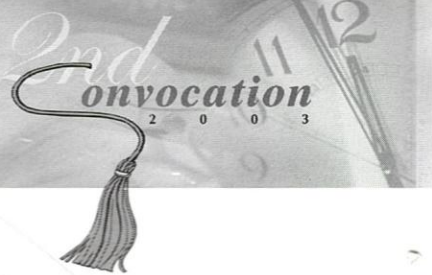

When I studied at Jenkins School, Cooch Behar, which is a 150-year old educational institution now, in the forties of the last century, I was fascinated by the Victorian architecture of the school, its lush green playing field and the fresh air that blew from all around the vacant pastures. Sports was an indispensable part of student activity. Look at our city and town schools today. Hundreds and thousands of students are cramped in small rented buildings, air and light are scarce commodities and playgrounds are day dreams. Private Universities in the cities present a more dismal picture. You have to do something about it yourselves on your own initiative or else public pressure will compel the Government of the day to take regulatory measures. I personally think that no one should be allowed to set up any private educational institution without a certain student-land ratio as a playground.

471 Graduates have been conferred their degrees on this 2nd Convocation today. I congratulate them on their success. I wish and pray that the education that they have received from their alma matre will be fruitful, productive and beneficial. Above all, whatever you do and wherever you go, you must carry the high sense of duty, strength of character, steadfastness and above all Islamic values that will distinguish you from all your fellow bretheren. A phase of your life has just ended. You are in the threshold of a new phase. It is at this stage that your education will be tested, re-tested and put to real trial. I wish you all complete success in your new journey.

I thank you all for giving me a patient hearing.

Zazakallah

Prof. Dr. Iajuddin Ahmed, Honorable President of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, and Chancellor of International Islamic University Chittagong, Convocation Speaker, Justice Mustafa Kamal, the Former Chief Justice, Special Guest, Dr. Osman Farruk, Minister of Education, and members of IUC Trust, Excellencies, Friends & Patrons of IIUC from home and abroad, Esteemed Colleagues, Graduating students, Ladies & Gentlemen.

Assalamu Alaikum

Great happiness and satisfaction fill my heart as I welcome you this morning on the occasion of the Second Convocation of International Islamic University Chittagong at this Bangladesh-China Friendship Centre. We are particularly honoured by the gracious presence of the Hon'ble Chancellor, Hon'ble Ministers, Distinguished Convocation Speaker, and IUC Trust Chairman. This is a day we were all looking forward to with great enthusiasm. It will be recorded in the annals of IIUC as a red-letter day. Today the Hon'ble Chancellor will confer both Bachelor and Master degrees on 471 candidates of IIUC.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

The responsibility of providing University Education cannot be left to the Government alone. There are a variety of reasons - not the least of which is resource constraint, particularly in Bangladesh. As a matter of fact, several famous Universities in Great Britain and United States are the products of private enterprise. The growth and development of these Universities were largely indebted to the symbiotic relationship that existed between the Universities and the societies that supported them. The need of Private Universities in Bangladesh is now beyond question. Ever since the Private University Act 1992 came into existence, the newly established Universities in the private sector have been playing an important role in developing various academic disciplines. These are serving to save a substantial amount of foreign exchange and stop brain drain as well.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We all know that no system of education succeeds in bringing about significant changes in life unless proper emphasis is given on originality and creative qualities of mind and spirit. However painful, there is no denying the fact that in the last several centuries Muslims have ignored this aspect of higher education and retracted their position from their glorious past. As a result inevitable stagnation followed their wrong path of conformity and traditionalism.

Last century saw spectacular achievements and breakthroughs in all fields of physical, mathematical, engineering, biological and medical sciences, which transformed the quality of life in a way never witnessed by mankind. In order to be a part of this success story and gain respect from the rest of the world, we should restructure our higher education in a meaningful way and give proper emphasis on the creative aspect of true education - education that would be capable of restoring the glory that marked the first five hundred years of Islam.

Distinguished Guests

The permanent campus at Kumira near Chittagong, in addition to the present campuses at Chittagong City and Dhaka, is being developed into a full-fledged University Campus with all necessary infrastructures. Already there are a total of 13 magnificent buildings - several of them are being used as Academic buildings and hostels. Recently completed 4-storied library-building with modern facilities being added should be envied by other Universities.

Since its inception in 1995 IIUC has been functioning with an avowed goal of producing skilled manpower with a modern knowledge in consonance with Islamic epistemology and ethical values. This objective has been worked into the University Requirement Courses, the objective being raising graduates who will be compassionate, caring human beings capable of taking up positions of trust and responsibility in any echelon of life.

The University has been consistently striving towards developing a non-political student-friendly and stimulating environment. Alongside prescribed courses, special emphasis is laid on developing leadership qualities and communication skills in students so that they can cope successfully in their professional life.

In order to ensure quality education we depend on our highly qualified full-time teaching staff - about 70% of our 233 teaching staff are full-time. At present 14 of our full-time staff members are doing higher degrees abroad on study leave from the University. The performance of our students in various national and regional computer competitions and placement of MBA graduates in high positions say everything about the strength of academic progress pursued thus far. The University has come a long way since its inception and is now on its firm feet. In order to meet the challenges of the New Millennium IIUC has prepared a long-term plans, and is going ahead with implementation and development of its various programs, including higher research degrees e.g. M.Phil and Ph.D.

My Dear Graduating Students,

My heartiest congratulations to you on successful completion of your courses; and on earning your Degrees. You have earned our love and admiration, you hold high the image of the University - and we are very proud of you. I have one further message for you. Education never stops with earning a degree - it is in fact the prelude to a life-long process. Your parents, your Alma Mater, and the nation as a whole have given you much. Now it is your turn to repay your debt. You are expected to provide necessary leadership - to a destination of peace, prosperity, justice and happiness. As you go forth into the wide world, our best wishes go with you; may you all by your behaviour and conduct add to the honour and pride to your Alma Mater. I pray that you succeed in discharging your responsibilities.

May Allah be with you in all your just endeavours.

Finally I must thank our friends and well-wishers from abroad who have so kindly undertaken the trouble of coming over here from a long distance in order to be with us this morning. You who have been with us all through and have helped us to stand on our feet, our hearts mingle with you in appreciation and gratitude.

Once again I congratulate the graduating students and their parents. I also wish 'would be graduates' success in their future endeavours.

Thank you Mr. Chancellor for kindly conferring Degrees on our graduates.

Thank you Justice Mostafa Kamal for your fine speech.

Thank you distinguished Guests, Honourable Ladies and Gentlemen for being with us.

Thank you. Allah Hafez.

Prof. Dr. Abu Bakr Rafique*

The history of establishing Private Universities in Bangladesh is not more than a decade. During the early years of nineties the people had hailed the Private Universities for many reasons. To mention some of them:

- a) The over-all environments of the Public Universities were not conducive at all for study. A majority percentage of students were not only involved in politics but also were playing as the activists of different political parties. And, as such, the chaos and conflicts between two rival groups were the common scenario in most of the universities.
- b) A large group of the Academic staff of these universities had taken this opportunity to consider their teaching profession as a part time job and for employing most of their energies in group politics or being engaged in different NGO's as consultants against lucrative honorarium.
- c) Finding no ways of hope for improvement of this situation a large number of students hailing from affluent families were trying to seek places at different foreign universities paying high tuition fees and spending huge amount of hard currency which had affected the economy of the country adversely.

And, as such, establishment of the Private Universities was a real blessing for the nation. The scenario was very encouraging upto the end of last decade of the past century. Most of the universities which were established during that period were committed to ensure academic excellence, politics free environment, session jam free academic calendar and an education of international standard.

The International Islamic University Chittagong is one of these few universities which were established in 1st 5 years. Its serial is 7th and it was established in 1995, with a clear vision to make this University as a center of excellence in the arena of education. From its very incentive the IIUC was committed to design the courses and curricula of each and every program in such a way that it can coup up with the standard of any seat of higher learning in South Asia, South East Asia, Canada and America. It follows Open Credit Hour System (OCHS) in respect of course offering, grading system of evaluation and semester system of Academic Calendar. However, the Trimester System is followed for EMBA. The syllabus of this University is based on integrated education policy which is a blend of modernism ensuring an ethical approach of spiritual values.

What differences are there in IIUC ?

The IIUC is characterised with so many differences which are not common at other universities of Bangladesh, Public or Private, to mention some of them:

- a) The IIUC follows an integrated policy, whereas it is in all other Universities segregated.
- b) The IIUC does not offer syllabus only based on teaching through lectures, it rather takes care of the proper guidance and orientation of its students for exploring their talents and nurshering their innate qualities properly.
- c) The IIUC was established for offering education in divergent branches of academic disciplines, like Shari'ah and Revealed knowledge, Business and Administrative Sciences, Computer Sciences and Communication Engineering, Arts & Humanities and Law etc.
- d) The IIUC has succeeded to provide a safe and separate arrangement of its girls students.

* Pro Vice-Chancellor, International Islamic University Chittagong

- e) The IIUC has largest number of regular faculties among all the Private Universities of Bangladesh. It is 172 in addition to another 56 adjunct faculties from senior teachers of other Public Universities or Executives of some Multinational Companies.
- f) The IIUC has witnessed a tremendous advancement in respect of students population and expansion of physical facilities. Starting from 47 students and three Departments in 1995, now the students population has exceeded 3500 in Undergraduate & Post Graduate level. It is exactly 80 times increase in eight years' duration.
- g) IIUC selects its teachers purely on the ground of excellence of academic career and offers high package salary to those whose performance is tested to be excellent.
- h) The fees and charges at IIUC is very much moderate to suit the middle class society of the country.
- i) It offers generous financial assistances to the poor and meritorious students.
- j) It has its own campuses at Chittagong and Dhaka. Apart from these two campuses its Permanent Campus at Kumira (20 Kms away from the city) is growing very rapidly on a vast proposed area of 150 acres of land.
- k) It has provided most of the updated facilities and adopted the advanced technologies for creating more and more opportunities to its students.
- l) It has successfully introduced the system of continuous Assessment Process for the students and Teaching Efficiency Rating (TER) for the teachers.
- m) The IIUC can boast especially with its EMBA program at both its Chittagong Campus & Dhaka Campus. It is the most upgraded program in respect of courses and curricula, the most scientific, the most popular of all other programs of this kind in all over Bangladesh and very reasonable in respect of fee structure.

As a matter of great concern we are noticing now-a-days some bitter comments from different corners and levels of the society criticising the Private universities that these are growing at mushroom style here and there in the country without ensuring even minimum facilities for the students.

I do not think that it is a matter of great anxiety. Because competition in the field of education is always good for the nation. These universities could not have existed if not the UGC had recommended and the government had approved. The most important thing is that the govt. should be very strict for ensuring the required facilities. The rules should be framed with more details about the terms and conditions regarding the minimum area of land, minimum space for academic & administrative purpose, minimum number of Department and minimum students population in each Department and they must be very strict about minimum number of regular faculty members and their qualification. There should also be an Accreditation Board for these Private Universities. Time will come when only the better ones will survive.

The contribution of the Private Universities can not be ignored for their contribution in some important aspects like creating politics free environment, session jam free academic calendar, and sincere dedication to the welfare of the students and strengthen relation between the teachers and their students which are unexpected in the Public Universities at least in present time.

Introduction:

International Islamic University Chittagong (IIUC) established in the Port-City and commercial capital Chittagong in 1995 under the historic Private University Act 1992 is one of the reputed private universities of the country fostering a single and humble motto "Islamization of knowledge". The complete credit of this unique and distinct endeavor goes to a well-organized trust- Islamic University Chittagong Trust (IUCT) comprising of some dedicated, learned, self-less scholars, educationists and well-wishers of the Muslim Ummah. It is worth mentioning here that these self-less Muslim intellectuals and researchers have come both from home and abroad. Under the able leadership of these personalities with very limited funds and manpower IIUC started its promising journey that within a short time turned to be a very successful project.

Since its inception in 1995 the University has been consistently striving towards developing a non-political, student-friendly and stimulating environment. Alongside prescribed courses, special emphasis is laid on developing leadership-qualities and communication skills in students so that they can cope successfully in their professional life. The Permanent Campus at Kumira, in addition to the existing Chittagong City Campus and Dhaka Campus, is being developed into a full-fledged University Campus with all necessary infrastructure including the Radio Link with other campuses and also the proposed Internet Via VSAT.

The performance of the students in various national and regional computer programming competitions says everything about the strength of academic progress pursued thus far. The University has come a long way since its inception and is now on its firm feet. On 17 December 2003 the University is holding its Second Convocation to give formal degrees to 471 students (Bachelor and Master). 4th Biennial Conference will also be held at Kumira during 18-19 December in which a good number of foreign dignitaries will be participating. The University has thus become a familiar name home and abroad.

Departments & Faculties :

The non-political and non-profit earning body started its humble initiative with three distinctive and rare Faculties available nowhere in any private or public university in the port city then. The initial Faculties were Faculty of Shariah , Faculty of Modern Sciences and Faculty of Administrative Sciences. These uniqueness of the Islamic university attracted both the guardians and their wards who were eagerly searching such a breeding ground where both modern, scientific and moral teaching go side by side. The guardians extended their cooperation by sending their wards to a newly established but well-furnished & well-equipped institution. With the kind cooperation of all walks of the people of the port city it did not take long for the university to turn into a full-fledged and well organized institution attracting more students, experienced teachers and skilled manpower. Within a short span of time the University was able to add two more important faculties i.e. Faculty of Arts and Humanities and Faculty of Law.

Following is the comprehensive list of the seven Departments under the five faculties in IIUC at present:

Sl. no.	Faculty	Department
1	Faculty of Shariah	Quranic Sciences and Islamic Studies(QSIS) Da'wah and Islamic Studies (DIS)
2	Faculty of Modern Sciences	Computer Science and Engineering (CSE) Computer and Communication Engineering (CCE)
3	Faculty of Administrative Sciences	Business Administration (BBA)
4.	Faculty of Arts and Humanities	English Language & Literature (ELL)
5	Faculty of Law	Law

Programs & Curricula :

At present the university offers under-graduate & post-graduate degrees in Quranic Sciences and Islamic Studies and Da'wah and Islamic Studies under the Faculty of Shariah, under-graduate degrees in Computer Science and Engineering and Computer and Communication Engineering, under the Faculty of Modern Sciences, under-graduate and post-graduate degrees in Business Administration under the Faculty of Administrative Sciences and Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature (ELL) under the Faculty of Arts and Humanities. Apart from these the university runs some attractive but low-cost extramural and evening programs. Among these lucrative programs which have been able to draw the attention and fulfill the latent dreams of many executives of renowned Banks and Multinational organizations, Executive MBA comes first. In addition to these, IIUC also offers Diplomas and Certificate courses such as Diploma in Computer Science (DCS), Diploma in Communicative English (DCE), Diploma and Certificate courses in Arabic Language (DAL).

Traditional courses are either 100% secular or 100% otherwise. IIUC follows syllabuses of international standard and Islamization process of academic curricula in different branches of knowledge; so that its students can imbibe the true spirit of Islam as an effective guiding principle in their work and in daily life.

The courses of the Faculty of Shar'iah & Islamic Studies are based on Islamic spirit. In the Faculty of Law, traditional courses constitute 35% of the whole syllabus, whereas Islamic & Comparative Law contents are ~65%. In all other faculties of Modern Sciences, Administrative Sciences and Arts & Humanity about 10% courses (as University Requirement Courses) are on ethical and Islamic values. These courses aim at expanding the cultural background of the nation and creating awareness about the glorious heritage of Muslim Ummah and cultivating Islamic values about life, nature & the Universe.

Awards and Financial Assistance:

Teaching standard and academic performances of the students can be gauged from the number of prizes our students achieved in different national and regional computer programming competitions.

Recently (October 2003) only BUET and IIUC teams from Bangladesh were ranked among first 10 places in the Regional Computer Programming Contest held in India.

Every year IIUC students are also awarded various kinds of scholarship and financial assistance amounting about Tk. 1 crore on the basis of their results of the exams in different semesters.

Research and Development:

IIUC has given due importance for Research & Development works. We have recently introduced M.Phil. and Ph.D. courses in our academic curriculum.

Joint research supervision with other universities (Ph.D. = 2, M.Phil. = 1) are being conducted, 19 research papers (4 in international journals, 15 in national journals) and 3 books have been published by Vice-Chancellor and other teachers of IIUC in 2003 only.

Teachers regularly attended seminars arranged at Dhaka and Chittagong. 10 seminars on different topics were arranged at IIUC in 2003, in which both teachers and students participated. In addition 1 International Conference on "Medical Ethics" was held in February 2003, in which the Education Minister Dr. M. Osman Farruk was present in the concluding session. Another International Conference on "Money & Real Economy: Islamic Perspective" has been approved by the Syndicate. At present 16 academic staff are on study-leave for higher studies abroad.

IIUC has published two scholarly journals in 2003: (i) Journal of Business Administration, Vol-2 (no-1) (March 2003) and (ii) IIUC Studies (The Research Journal of IIUC) - first issue is in press - scheduled to come out in December 2003.

Teacher and Students Population :

IIUC has employed 233 (16 are on study-leave) teachers, of whom ~ 70% are full-time.

Recent books, well-equipped lab & Internet facilities, teachers with foreign degrees and scope for study-leave abroad are more or less adequate facilities provided to keep the teachers well informed with the latest knowledge & to keep their teaching standard intact.

It also has 57 part-time teachers from various reputed public universities of the country. IIUC is proud of having well experienced and learned scholars mostly from reputed public universities of the country as its Deans and Heads. The present Vice Chancellor, Prof. Dr. A.K.M. Azharul Islam is a renowned scientist and ISESCO award winner.

Though the university was set in motion with a meager number of 47 students, it has now increased to 3092 in various Departments.

Graduated Students:

The University has already produced 667 graduates, who were taught not only modern knowledge, but also Islamic knowledge and ethical values through IIUC's University Requirement Courses. Student Affairs Division (STAD) has also trained them on aspects of ethical behaviour and patterns. I expect that these graduates have earned their degrees equipped with the special characteristic knowledge and education as contained in IIUC's motto.

Despite the word 'Islamic' in the name of the university IIUC attracts non-muslim students. At present about 100 non-muslim and foreign students are part of the IIUC family.

IIUC has produced a total of 667 (bachelor = 233, Master=434) in the field of Computer Science & Engineering, Computer & Communication Engineering, Business Administration, Quranic Sciences & Islamic Studies, Da'wah & Islamic Studies etc. In addition a total of 112 got their diploma in Computer Science as well. In the faculties of Arts & Humanities and Law, students are yet to complete their graduation.

Our graduates have been successful in both of their academic and professional life. Many of our graduates are doing higher degrees abroad. A number of them have already returned with higher degrees - two of them to our university as faculty member.

Many are already employed in universities, Computer firms, Industries, Business, Banks, own firms, etc. Some of the MBA students are now placed in higher and executive positions in different organizations.

Officers & Staff :

Total number of personnel (206) at various levels till October 2003 is as follows:

- (a) Executive & Administrative staff = 44 (Chittagong) + 13 (Dhaka campus) = 57
- (b) Ministerial & General staff = 114 (Chittagong) + 35 (Dhaka campus) = 149

STAD Activities :

One of the important divisions of IIUC is 'Student Affairs Division' (STAD), which conducts all the extra- and co-curricular activities of IIUC students. IIUC is playing a vital role in attracting the students to STAD activities in sports, environmental development, social enhancement, cultural and humanitarian activities as extra-curricular activities.

STAD organizes annual athletic meet in each autumn semester for students and the staff, takes part in Inter-university games and tournaments, arranges cricket tournaments, Taekando training etc. to help students to have good physical and sound health.

STAD looks after the environmental issues of IIUC - it tries specially to develop a brotherly atmosphere among the students and the faculty. In the orientation programs STAD gives a proper and befitting introduction of IIUC Departments and Divisions, rules and regulations, do's and don'ts in the campus and hostel rules. STAD motivates students to be law-abiding and sincere regarding maintenance of IIUC environment.

STAD organizes programs to develop social awareness among the students such as Blood Donation program in collaboration with Red Crescent Society and Sandhani, Vaccination program, procession against terrorism, observation of World Anti-drug day and so on.

STAD arranges Cultural Festival in each spring semester, poem recitation, song competitions, workshop on different cultural subjects.

Besides STAD raises funds for flood victims, war victims and other oppressed people.

Job Placement Unit :

This year we have created a 'Job Placement Unit' under STAD to help our graduates in entering their professional life. A placement officer has been recruited for helping students in getting job. Placement Unit has already arranged talks on employment opportunity, mock interview etc. The Unit has also developed a data bank for the job seeking IIUC graduates. Companies are getting interest in internship for the IIUC students. Some students have been employed with the help of IIUC's 'Placement Unit'. In addition to the regular activities this Division organized first ever Job Fair at Chittagong on 25 February 2003 at Institute of Engineers Bangladesh, which drew attention of all corners and thousands of students.

Library & Lab Facilities :

At Chittagong city campus we have a central library, with two more smaller libraries, one in the faculty of Business Administration, one in the faculty of Arts & Humanities and one in the female campus. At present the total number of books is about 45,000. The recently completed 4-storied modern library building with advanced e-facilities in the permanent campus at Kumira (to be opened on 19 December 2003) will be envy for all the universities. Libraries (automation is in process) and laboratories are equipped with modern facilities including Internet facilities. These are well equipped to fulfill the educational demands of the competitive scientific age.

Well-equipped library has been arranged to provide students with necessary study materials. Further well-equipped laboratories and appropriate educational environments with adequate number of full-time staff members, many of them with foreign degrees, are serving the need of the students to make them fit for the globalized world with intense competitions.

Library is currently under the plan of automation to keep up with the standard requirement of a modern library.

Besides other normal facilities, IIUC has already installed a modern powerful Compaq Network Server. Student can implement and develop their software in Network based environment. Further IIUC has developed a Computer Hardware Lab and Software library for its students. Besides these IIUC has Physics, Electronics and Microprocessor Labs.

Campuses and Hostels :

To accommodate such a huge infrastructure and academic activities IIUC has to establish series of well-furnished campus at various suitable locations of the port city of Chittagong and at the capital city of Dhaka. The most important campus consisting of Academic Buildings -1 and 2 is located at College road, Chawk Bazar, Chittagong. The 1st Academic Building accommodates the Administrative Offices, Faculty of Shariah and the Dept. of Computer and Communication Engineering. IIUC is proud to possess the largest and well-equipped Faculty of Modern Sciences in the port city, which is set up in a five, storied Building-Academic Building-2. Another most prominent faculty- Faculty of Administrative Sciences lies in Academic Building - 3 just opposite to the Parade ground. Academic Building-4 houses another important faculty- Faculty of Arts and Humanities located in a calm and quite beautiful residential area at Panchalish. Apart from all these,

IIUC owns an exclusive campus, a six-storied building only for the female students called the Female campus located at Perceval Hills. Besides these city campuses, there is a large campus at Kumira which is scheduled to be the permanent campus. Kumira campus, itself is an individual university having five Departments - Dept of CSE, BBA, LAW, DIS and QGIS and two well-furnished dormitory for the students. For the students of the city campus IIUC runs four well-furnished dormitories - three for the males located in the peaceful Chandgaon Residential Area and one for the Female students at Katalgonj. In addition, IIUC owns a modern and well-supported campus at the capital city known as Dhaka Campus with 4 buildings.

Aims and Objectives

IIUC has been established to produce a group of qualified and competent young people for the advancement of knowledge for social uplift by filling the vacuum of leadership in an attempt to lead the country to prosperity and progress. To achieve this target of providing all-round and harmonious development of individuals and society, IIUC has been set up with the following aims and objectives.

- ◆ To re-construct human thought in all its forms on the foundation of Islam to develop Islamic character and personality among the students, the teachers and the auxiliary staff of the University.
- ◆ To encourage and promote education, training, and research based on Islamic view points in social and intellectual studies as well as, applied and theoretical sciences .
- ◆ To take practical steps for ideological, moral, intellectual, economic and technological development, for nurturing and nourishing ideas and principles in accordance with the norms of Islam and for developing solutions to contemporary social , notional or world problems.

Inevitable stagnation follows the wrong path of conformity and traditionalism in education. Thus the avowed aim of IIUC is to strive consistently towards making it at par with other advanced institutions of the world. This cannot be accomplished in a day. IIUC has started this difficult journey with short and long-term plans for adequate infrastructure, modern library, laboratories, research facilities, V-SAT, more experienced teaching personnel, proper residential facilities etc. Some of these plans for imparting 21st Century education have already begun - IIUC has started to implement them and kept its development programs going.
